This week in Language Arts we have been working on the letters Ii, Jj, and Kk. We discussed how sometimes lowercase "j" and "i" can look similar when we write them because they both have a tail and a dot. We discussed how we have to look at the direction of the tail and if it digs down like the "j" or is short like the "i". We also went over what the sounds of these letters are and some words that begin with these letters. We have been using the sight word "a" this week to create sentences about what kind of tool we can use.

In Math this week we have been creating patterns. We learned what a pattern rule is and then had to find it in various types of patterns. We did color and shape pattern. We will continue with patterns next week by looking at size, growing and transverse patterns.

In Religion this week we have been learning more about prayer. We discussed how we talk to mom and dad on the phone but we cannot call God up. Since we know that God is always in our heart then we know he is always listening and we can talk to him at any time. We learned the prayer word "amen" and that by saying this we are saying "yes" to God. If we say this at the end of someone's prayers then their prayer becomes our own. Each child then said a prayer either thanking God, asking him to bless someone or asking him for help. We then said "amen" after each person's prayer. We also learned that we can pray in different ways. We can dance, sing, make gestures or speak to him quietly. All of these ways are how we can talk to God and thank him, ask him for help or ask him to bless our loved ones.

In Social Studies we have been doing this with Reading and Writing and learning about community helpers and the tools that they use. We discussed doctors, firefighters, dentists and teachers. In writing we wrote about a tool that we use in school.
